

BatchMaster Announces Webinar Series On Advanced And Add-On Applications

BatchMaster Software, Inc.

As an ongoing commitment to providing excellent customer service to our BatchMaster customers, BatchMaster Software, Inc. is hosting a series of weekly webinars for our customers to inform them about all of our Advanced and Add-On Applications. Each Webinar in the series will include a presentation outlining the features and functionality of the application followed by a brief demonstration. A question and answer period will follow allowing you to get information on any area which you might like covered in more detail. You can receive the valuable knowledge and information about our Advanced and Add-On Applications which you need. Pricing information can be obtained following the Webinar by contacting your Customer Relations Executive.
